GUESS? You can tell by the big orange button whose blazer it's on.

Jimmy Stewart Returns to Princeton and Finds Town and Gown Pretty Much Like He Left It

As a young movie actor he always had that manner — quiet, gentle, almost self-effacing, speaking low with those sibilant s's. So you're not surprised that the elderly Jimmy Stewart, in town for the 50th reunion of his 1932 class at Princeton University, is just like that.

What is surprising, perhaps, is that, contrary to his more diffident film personality, he seems to like to talk.

He agreed to a press conference in Maclean House, and University officials said it would be only 15 minutes, because Mr. Stewart wanted to enjoy his reunion, and reminiscences with old Triangle Club friends. But reporters had the impression he'd have continued in pleasant reminiscence a good bit longer if he hadn't been cut off.

Wearing his class uniform, the orange cords, grey jacket, white shirt and tiger-imprinted tie, and "Jim Stewart" button, Mr. Stewart settled his tall frame into a Maclean House antique chair and unfolded his recollections of town and gown.

"The town has character. It isn't enveloped completely by the University. It's kept its character, and this is encouraging to me. The town has very much the appearance it had 50 years ago."

Palmer Square was not built until Mr. Stewart had been out of college for four years, but the actor returned to Princeton several times during the four years in the 1960s when he was a University trustee. He was also here ten years ago for his 40th reunion.

"This place they call Princeton has kept its identity," he said, referring to the University. "I've always been sold on Princeton, right from the first. The changes have all been in the way of development. It's big, but it hasn't blown through the ceiling."

Whoosh! BANG! Ahhhh!

Fireworks!

After all the fizzles and blown fuses, there really will be fireworks in Quarry Park after all.

In fact, they will zoom skyward this Saturday at 9 p.m. "sharp," and sponsor and head firer Dave Guerzini promises "75-foot by 16-foot Niagara Falls, embellished with Roman candle batteries, intense tiny bomb barrages, 50 Japanese chrysanthemums and peony glitter shells and 50 Titanium blossom 'Star Wars'-type explosions."

Whew!

We almost forgot: also an international selection of display-caliber shells, and a finale of 160 display-size color breaks, plus "hundreds of whistles and bombs."

Again -- whew!

There will be no admission, but donations are welcome and will be encouraged, because the show is for the benefit of the Princeton Senior Resource Center, next door to Quarry Park.

To reach the park, go north on Linden Lane from Nassau Street. Where Linden intersects with Spruce, turn right on Spruce, and there you are. Mr. Guerzini begs you to park somewhere else, and walk to the site.

If it should rain, fireworks will be set off this Sunday. If it's still raining, it will be Saturday, June 19, or even the 20th.

Elm Road Site 1st Choice For PCH Housing for Elderly

The old Borough sewer field, off Elm Road, is now Princeton Community Housing's preferred site for elderly housing and the Harrison Street playground is apparently no longer under consideration.

Borough Council is weighing the idea of proposing an amendment to the Master Plan which would create a zone for, perhaps, "senior-citizen subsidized housing," or a similar designation. Such a zone might be limited to certain parts of the Borough, or available to any developer under certain circumstances — the options are many. In any case, it would not be specific to that sewer field site, although clearly that is Council's idea.

2 New Buildings Planned Block Apart on Nassau St.

A pair of four-story office buildings, each with apartments on top, will be part of the Nassau Street facade. Each building is moving from square to square on the game board, one a little farther toward end game than the other.

Laidlaw, Adam and Peck, Inc., the brokerage firm, received 10-0 conditional approval last week from the Planning Board for its four-story building in the burned-out gap at 138 Nassau. Approval of its site plan, however, was only 6-3, with one abstention.

Meanwhile, on down the block at 182 Nassau, the four-story building planned by Alvin and Mildred Gershen will go before the Environmental Design Review Committee next Monday (7:30 p.m., Valley Road) for site plan discussion. This is the second Gershen office building for Princeton. The other has been started on Lower Alexander Street in the Township.

Laidlaw's condition from the Planning Board relates to windows for the two two-bedroom apartments on the fourth floor. Present plans show windows right on the property line. Laidlaw was told to submit a revised window plan, perhaps with skylights or atrium spaces, or even with recessed windows. Without approval by the board of this revision, the building cannot proceed.

Approval, by 10-0 of all the variances — floor-area ratio, lot coverage, waiver of open space requirements and parking — was apparently due to a new design showing the apartments. The site plan itself produced doubts in the minds of Hans K. Sander (board chairman), Elizabeth Hutter and new board member John von Plantinga, all of whom voted against it. Richard Henkel was the abstainer.

The Laidlaw design shows two entrances for the 40-foot-wide building. One, with double-doors, a six-by-six-foot sign over the doors and an arch over that, is for the former Hudlbas restaurant area; the other, a more standard door arrangement, is for the Laidlaw brokerage offices.

The Planning Board specified that there be 13 employees in the brokerage firm on the ground floor, and low-density office use on the second and third floors, with nine employees per floor.

Elm Road Site

The point is this: the sewer field is in the R-1 residential zone, where only single-family dwellings are allowed. Which would be quickest and easiest:

for PCH to go before the Zoning Board and ask for a use variance, or for the Planning Board to amend the Master Plan?

PCH has already held informal talks with a few Planning Board members, according to Mayor Robert W. Cawley, and he reported that the response seemed positive. PCH is, however, under a September 30 deadline.

Mayor Cawley says he prefers an amendment to the Master Plan. Some members of Council, if comments made at last Thursday's agenda session are an indication, are uneasy about a zoning change.

The mayor says Council wants to know PCH's particulars: number of habitable rooms, floor space, and so on, to obtain some idea of density. Also, the Borough needs to know exactly how much time PCH has.

The non-profit corporation has reportedly told Federal Housing and Urban Development officials that it would like the sewer field, following defeat of its plans for the library lot site. So far, there has been no reply.

Nassau Buildings

Mr. and Mrs. Gershen's building will be built right against Cox' Store on the west, and Nassau Savings and Loan on the east. There will be no driveway from Nassau — a "desirable feature," according to a memo to the EDRC from Borough engineer George Olexa. The front of the building will be flush with Cox's.

Combination of Residential and Business. Plans call for stores on the ground floor, offices on the second and third floors and six one-bedroom apartments, each with balcony, on the fourth floor.

Parking, in the rear, will be partially under the building and partly on the surface. Because of the slope of the land, the building will actually be five stories high at the rear, or northern, end.

Cars will enter the lot from the Borough parking lot on Park Place. Eight parking spaces at the rear will be turned over to the Borough. Originally, the Borough had hoped for a similar easement from Nassau Savings and Loan so that a continuous corridor could extend from the parking lot on Vandeventer to the lot on Moore; however, the savings and loan firm declined.

From the EDRC, the Gershens will go back to the Borough Zoning Board. They already have variances for parking and additional floor-area ratio for their apartments, and this means the Zoning Board — rather than the Planning Board — has jurisdiction over site plans for the building.

TO RENEW RENT LAW
In Borough. With stronger language to protect tenants against landlord reprisals, the Borough's rent registration ordinance will be extended for five years, from its June 30 expiration deadline. Council will introduce the ordinance at its 8 p.m. meeting this Thursday in Borough Hall. (It is the regular June meeting, moved from the second-Tuesday date because of the primaries.) Council will also talk about ways to protect tenants from "unconscionable" rent increases, but this will not be part of Thursday's ordinance. It is possible that a full-scale rent control ordinance would be required for such protection, according to Borough attorney Edwin Schmierer.

Thursday's agenda also calls for introduction of an ordinance wiping out four parking places on Chambers Street in front of the Pickering Building. The spaces will be designated solely for the use of firemen on duty in fire emergencies — not even for firemen attending a meeting in the fire-house.

The four spaces would have been wiped out anyway under the Planning Board's approval of Collins' parking garage plans; the ordinance merely advances the date.

At Council's agenda session last week, Peter Bearse said he was "very unhappy" about a five-year extension of the rent registration law when so much remained to be discussed. He proposed a one or two-year extension, with the ordinance "strengthened" in light of experience.

"You need a 'sunset' provision to prod people to correct an ordinance," he protested.

Metuchen School Principal Named As Assistant School Superintendent

The principal of a school in Metuchen has been named assistant superintendent of schools for Princeton, succeeding Paul Jennings, who is leaving this summer for another post.

The new man is Jamieson A. McKenzie, a 1967 graduate of Yale (political science and American literature) with an M.A. in social studies education and the teaching of reading from Columbia University Teachers College. He is completing his Ed.D. at Rutgers in social studies education, with emphasis on administration and supervision.

Winner over 300 other applicants for the job, Mr. McKenzie will start at $45,200. His appointment was approved by the school board last week.

He has been principal of the Edgar School in Metuchen since 1976. Before that, he was assistant principal of the Franklin Middle School in Metuchen. For two years, he was humanities co-ordinator at Franklin, and before that, taught English and social studies for five years at Greenwich Country Day School, Greenwich, Connecticut.

He teaches social studies methods at Douglass College, and has presented programs on gifted-and-talented education and the use of computers in schools. He was mayor of Raritan Township, as well as a Township Committee member, and has served on the Hunterdon County Park Commission. He also reports that he plays the guitar, writes songs and poetry and jogs.

"I am very pleased about the strengths Mr. McKenzie brings to us," says Superintendent Paul Houston. "His background is consistently marked by an unending search for excellence. He has, throughout his career, found imaginative solutions to problems and Princeton will benefit greatly from this ability and his interest in quality."

His colleague, Nelson van den Blink, urged Council "Don't let it die!" in reference to the "unconscionable rent increase" concept.

In other business Thursday, Council will accept a bid from Applied Computer Technology of Mountainside, to put the Borough's property assessments on computer. The cost: $3.95 for each of the Borough's 2,000 line items, or $7,900.

Mayor Robert W. Cawley told reporters Monday that Council had not yet decided whether to reassess annually or once every two years. The next one, however, will be in 1983, he said.

Council will also introduce a bond ordinance providing $2,700 for a study of the municipality's space requirements. The study will explore police department needs.

STUDENT TO APPEAL
In Plagiarism Case. Although she was not able to participate in graduation exercises Tuesday, Gabrielle Napolitano still hopes to graduate from Princeton University with her class of 1982, and she has appealed the University's decision to withhold her diploma for one year. University President William G. Bowen last week upheld the decision of the University's Committee on Discipline that Miss Napolitano was guilty of plagiarism.

Princeton attorney Alan Wallack, of Brenner, Wallack and Hill, is scheduled to appear this Wednesday before Appellate Court Judge Robert Matthews to ask for an early ruling so that Miss Napolitano can graduate with her class. Superior Court Judge William A. Dreier, following President Bowen's decision, declined to reverse the University's ruling.

Charges were brought against the honor student by Spanish professor Sylvia Molloy. She stated that Miss Napolitano had either copied verbatim from a Spanish book by Josefina Ludmer, or had paraphrased the book without acknowledgement.

Denying the plagiarism charge, Miss Napolitano cited 12 footnotes in her paper, five of which referred to the Ludmer book.

In a letter to Miss Napolitano, President Bowen said "the extent of (your) plagiarism is substantial, af-

1,331 RECEIVE DEGREES
At Princeton Commencement. Cool, but at least not raining, so Princeton University conferred its degrees on Tuesday in the open air, awarding 1,331 bachelor and advanced degrees at the institution's 235th commencement.

The University also bestowed honorary degrees on seven men and women of varied and various achievements, including a professional tennis player, the founder of an experimental theatre, a woman university president and a distinguished scholar from the Princeton community.

Four teachers received the 1982 prizes for Distinguished Secondary School Teaching in New Jersey, and three alumni had received, on Saturday, the Alumni Council Awards for Service to Princeton.

Honorary Degrees. Heading the list of honorary degree recipients was Rensselaer W. Lee, 120 Mercer Street, of Princeton's class of 1920. As Marquand Professor of Art and Archaeology, "he united the study of classics and literature to that of art history, making himself a special home in the Italian Renaissance. He taught generations of students to read the poetry in its pictures and to find the pictures in its poems."

A respected leader in his profession, the citation read, he taught the humanist ideal "by example, as well as by precept."

Ellen Stewart, founder of La MaMa experimental theatre, was commended as "a pro-

THE LEADER OF THE BAND: Grand Marshall Stuart Duncan, Princeton University Class of 1950 and Princeton resident, carried the new P-rade mace when he led off Saturday's annual P-rade of returning Princeton University alumni and alumnae. Among the marchers were New Jersey Governor Thomas Kean, Harrison J. Goldin, controller of New York City, 95-year-old Carl F. Hinrichsen of the Class of 1907, and, of course, Jimmy Stewart (see page one). A light drizzle which began just as the P-rade ended, didn't bother the caged 300-pound tiger (live) that accompanied the Class of 1972, nor the Clydesdale horses (also live) of beer renown.

ducer of the excitingly experimental, creator today of tomorrow's great theatre." The theatre itself was described as "a place, a spirit, a person — for more than 20 years, a wellspring of life for the art of the theatre."

Harold W. McGraw Jr., chairman of the board and chief executive officer of McGraw-Hill, Inc., and a member of Princeton's class of 1940, received praise for his work as president of the board of trustees of the Princeton University Press, presiding "with unusual sensitivity and skill, seeking always to serve the imperatives of quality."

Stephen W. Hawking, Lucasian professor of mathematics at Cambridge, "has reached out to the very edges of the universe," charting a mathematical course toward understanding a world in which, "as he replied to Einstein, 'God not only plays dice, but sometimes throws them where they cannot be seen.'"

Arthur Ashe, tennis player and coach of the U.S. Davis Cup team, was cited for his articulate support of "the aspirations of minorities at home and abroad."

Paul A. Volcker, chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System, was described as "resolute and courageous physician to the nation's economic health...unselfish servant of the public interest." A member of Princeton's class of 1949, he was praised as an example of Princeton University in the nation's services.

Hanna Holborn Gray, president of the University of Chicago, was described as a historian of distinction, university president of rare achievement and steadfast advocate of academic values.

There were 652 men and 372 women in the graduating class for a total of 1,024. Of this number 474 received some form of honor: 100 highest honors, 149 high honors and 225 honors, 43 percent of the women and 44 percent of the men received honors.

In keeping with long tradition, the valedictory and Latin salutatory addresses were given by members of the graduating class. Valedictorian is Andrew R. Golding of Larchmont, New York, and salutatorian is Stephen H. Behnke of Decatur, Illinois.

The four New Jersey high school teachers "who have made learning fun and created a magical atmosphere" in their classrooms, will receive $1,000 each. Their schools will receive $250 toward purchase of library books.

The teachers are Nickalal A. Hansen, industrial arts teacher at Fisher Junior High in Trenton; Thomas Edward Harrington, English and humanities teacher at Pascack Hills High School in Montvale; Jane B. Kennedy, mathematics teacher at Morris Knolls High School in Denville and Frank J. Korn, Latin and Italian teacher at Frank H. Morrell High School, Irvington.

The prizes were established in 1959 by an anonymous Princeton alumnus to recognize "fruitful teaching and devoted service" in New Jersey schools. Teachers are judged on classroom effectiveness, impact on students in and out of the classroom, pioneering teaching activities, and involvement with the less-gifted student.

Alumni Council Awards were given to David G. Rahr of Cherry Valley Road; Thomas P. Birmingham of Weston, Conn., and H. Coleman Tily III of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Three alumni were elected to the University's board of trustees for four-year terms. They are Malcolm S. Forbes, of the class of 1941, editor-in-chief of Forbes Magazine; E. Peter Gillette, chief executive officer of Northwestern National Bank, Minneapolis, class of 1956 and Joel Achenbach, a member of the graduating class of 1982.

The University has also announced a new endowed chair; the Louis W. Fairchild '24 Professorship in English. The endowment is part of the $275 million fund drive. Funding is from Mr. Fairchild, who died last year, and his sister, Mrs. Harry T. Martindale.

A ROYAL INVESTIGATION?
Kings Court Chair Missing.
A hand-carved, very ornate, 250-year-old chair, valued in excess of $2,000 and called the Upright King's Court Chair is missing from the Tiger Inn on Prospect Avenue.

Police report that someone entered the club between 8:30 Monday morning and 12:30 p.m. and removed the chair. During the past school year, police revealed that two companion pieces have also been stolen.

Jewels by Juliana, a jewelry store at 16 Witherspoon Street, called police last week to report a missing pearl necklace valued at $5,200. It was discovered missing after customers in the store had left, police said.

There were the usual thefts during reunion weekend at the university. While a Princeton resident was watching Saturday's P-rade, she placed her purse on the ground. A half-hour later she noticed it was missing. She lost $30 in cash.

A New York City resident here for the reunion festivities had to return without his $150 sport coat. It was stolen during the 20 minutes he had left it unattended on the back of a chair in the Blair Hall courtyard.

A student who had placed his luggage near the University Place curb lost $60 when someone rifled his overnight bag. It was later found by proctors about 100 feet away, minus the money.

A Princeton resident who had parked her car for 45 minutes Thursday afternoon in the Marquand Parking lot — leaving her shoulder bag behind — joined the list of theft victims. Inside the bag was her wallet containing $120.

While a resident of Upper Saddle River was attending a wedding reception last week at the Nassau Inn, someone stole his $300 camera, and a Princeton resident listed the theft of his unlocked, $100 bicycle from in front of Bella Pizza on Witherspoon Street.

$510 Meal. A thief smashed a window to enter the car of an East Windsor resident while she was dining Friday evening at the Rusty Scupper Restaurant on Alexander Street.

Taken were a briefcase containing $60, pen set, calculator and business papers and a rain coat. Her total loss: $510.

The West Windsor Construction Company reported the theft Friday of an air conditioner compressor from a new home construction site at 357 Ewing Street, and the Hun School sign was cut down and stolen from its post on Route 206 and Edgerstoune Road. An investigation by Ptl. Robert Buchanan revealed the sign theft to be the act of a group of youths driving a dark-colored station wagon and a Volkswagen. Police searched the area without success.

While a Greenbrier Row resident was shopping last week at the Acme Market in the Princeton Shopping Center, she left her purse unattended in her shopping cart. She lost her wallet containing $5 and her driver's license.

SAVE THE BRIDGE?

Consultant Thinks So. The engineer hired by Township residents who want to save the Province Line bridge, thinks it can be saved for the next 20 years and $100,000.

The high old bridge, over Stony Brook, has been closed by Mercer County as unsafe. County Executive Bill Mathesius informed Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini that the county didn't have the money to maintain the bridge even if it were repaired.

But Willis Klotzbach of Trenton, consultant for the residents, studied the report prepared for the county by Parsons, Brinkerhoff, Quade & Douglas and reached different conclusions.

Donald Harney, county engineer, has said it would cost $850,000 to replace the 1903 bridge with a wholly new structure. Federal rules now call for two lanes. The present bridge, Mr. Harney remarked, has "Only one, for horse-and-buggy traffic." In addition, he said, access roads would have to be widened, and the total cost could be $1 million.

Eva Collins of Stony Brook Lane, head of the group of residents, explains that she, her husband and the other 66 families who want their bridge back, don't need a massive span. All they want is a bridge which allows them to get there and back. Mrs. Collins has said that a school bus driver didn't pick up her children for three days because he couldn't figure out how to get to her house.

Robert Carmignani, the county's director of public works, says there are plenty of alternate routes which do complicate the lives of residents, admittedly, but only involve a five to eight-minute time difference.

WHAT'S THAT AGAIN?
Washington Road Closed. When Township Chief Frederick Porter read a brief clipping in a Trenton newspaper Tuesday morning that Washington Road between the Delaware-Raritan Canal and Route 1 was going to be closed for ten days, he had two reactions.

First, he was irritated that he hadn't been notified about the closing of one of the main road arteries into and out of Princeton. His second reaction was one of alarm: Saturday was the annual Hospital Fete when Washington Road would be clogged with visitors.

Visions of chaos galvanized Chief Porter into action. After a few quick calls, he was finally put in touch with Mercer County highway department head Robert Carmignani who assured Chief Porter that while that section of the Washington Road was indeed scheduled to be closed for ten working days to allow road crews to patch NURSE TO RETIRE: Mrs. Roseann Pease, left, nurse at Princeton High School for 26 years, will retire this year. Known for integrating health services into the broader school program, she has used medical science clubs, posters, presentation and "health career days" to lure students. She often demonstrates proper infant-bathing methods — as she is doing here — to students in the Family Living Center. Subjects are Brendan Hart (that's his mother, right) and Michael Best.

convene for a reunion for the first time in 50 years on Saturday, June 19, at 11 a.m. After greetings and a tour of the building, the "old grads" will have lunch in the Lewis Room of the Nassau Inn and then depart. Interested classmates may write Reunion, 47 Ocean Avenue, Manasquan, 08736, or call (201) 223-2673 during evening hours and Sundays or (201) 449-6251 during the day.

Those arranging for the event are, class president, William Van Arsdale; valedictorian, Emma Anderson Rowles; Tower business manager, Nellie Williamson Hunter; Tower editor, Alexander Corson, and class secretary, Dorothy Briner Pace.

Assistant principal Miss Florence Burke will conduct the tour of the High School, along with a few of the teachers who taught there during 1930, 1931 and 1932.

Class of 1962, Princeton High School Class of 1962 will hold a 20th reunion picnic Saturday, June 19, at 4 p.m.

the roadway in preparation for resurfacing, it would be open during high peak travel hours in the morning and afternoon. In between it would be closed for minor repairs.

Any Fete traffic prior to the event would be allowed to get through to the site, Mr. Carmignani assured Chief Porter. Saturday, a non-working day, the road would be open.

COMMITTEE NAMED
On Hazardous Route Busing. A new advisory committee on hazardous route busing has been appointed by Township Mayor Winthrop Pike. The new committee will take the place of the Ad Hoc Committee on Hazardous Routes Busing which was formed a year ago.

The new committee will consist of Michael Tomalin, representing the Board of Education; Nancy Vander Voort, representing the board's traffic safety committee; Stephen Klein, original chairman of the Ad Hoc Committee; and George Adriance, representing Township Committee.

The committee hopes to arrive at what Mr. Adriance calls "a real meeting of the minds" between Township Committee and the Board of Education as to where the responsibility lies for the transportation of children who live on roads deemed too dangerous to walk or bike along. Busing of children living on hazardous routes was at one time borne by the School Board, but the cost was later assumed by the Township when the Board was under financial difficulties.

As municipal governments have become increasingly hard pressed by the state-imposed "cap" law, the Township has chafed under the burden of busing, which it feels belongs back with the School Board. However, roads without sidewalks or safe shoulders are in the Township, and the Borough taxpayer would be paying indirectly through the school tax for what is essentially a service to Township children if hazardous route busing became a responsibility of the School Board.

Mr. Adriance and others on Township Committee hope that this new committee can work out some solutions before budget time so that stop-gap measures are not again adopted in the head of budget preparation.

PEACE MARCH COMES THROUGH PRINCETON: Led by Japanese Buddhist monks, participants in the World Peace March made their way up Mercer Street last Thursday to Trinity Church where they spent the night. The marchers were en route to New York and the Second Session on Disarmament which opened this week. Carrying banners and beating fan-like drums, they walked past the home of Albert Einstein, whose discoveries in nuclear physics made possible the atom bomb. After the first bomb was detonated in 1945, Einstein remarked that "the unleashed power of the atom has changed everything except our way of thinking."

He expects that number to double by Saturday.

Upon arrival at Penn Station, participants will gather on 31st street between 7th and 8th Avenues and march up 7th Avenue to Central Park. The rally will take place at the Great Lawn, between 81st and 86th street in the park. It will last from noon to 5 p.m.

The demands of the Rally are a freeze and reduction in all nuclear weapons and the transfer of military budgets to human needs.

Among the confirmed speakers for the Rally are Dr. Helen Caldicott, president, Physicians for Social Responsibility; Randall Forsberg, director, Institute for Defense and Disarmament Studies, and the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr., senior minister, Riverside Church, all of whom have spoken in Princeton under the sponsorship of the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament.

Other well-known speakers include Coretta Scott King, Barry Commoner, Bella Abzug and Ossie Davis. Entertainers for the Rally will include Rita Marley, Holly Near, James Taylor, Linda Ronstadt, Pete Seeger, Jackson Browne and Roy Brown.

Cold:
You're right: it's been cold. So far in June — and that's not very far — 31 degrees below normal as of this Monday, reports Science Associates' Dan Mazzarella, adjusting his summer-weight mittens. It's a New York statistic, incidentally, but Mr. Mazzarella says it applies here as well.

And for the year to date, 74 degrees below normal. So if you haven't yet planted your tomatoes, don't worry: they probably wouldn't have done much anyway.

April was our wet month, and here the figures are from Princeton. There were 6.79 inches in April, 2.95 in May and .76 so far in June. Want to compare? Last year, May had 4.84 inches and all of June, 3.72. So we have a way to go.

Princeton did not, of course, get Connecticut's seven-to-11 inches. We've been on the back side of a sequence of slow-moving coastal systems — hence the long stretches of cloudiness. The persistent north-northeast winds, coming on the same date as Sunday's full moon (high tides) brought misery to Connecticut and Long Island.

Princeton is not noted for high tides.

Clouds and more sprinkles late Thursday and Friday. What else did you expect?

tion with the U.N. Special Session on Disarmament will include an International Religious Convocation on Friday from noon to 3 at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and "Blockade the Bombers," a series of non-violent direct actions on Monday. Persons interested in participating should call the Coalition office at 924-5022.

BOMB THREATS DUDS

At U-Store, PMC, Borough police last week investigated two separate bomb threat hoaxes.

At 12:15 Friday afternoon, a caller told the University Store, "There is a bomb planted in the store and it is going off at 12:30." After clearing the store, a search by university proctors and police revealed no bombs. They waited until 12:45 before allowing customers to return.

Chief Michael Carnevale declined to reveal any information about the voice of the caller, saying the incident is under investigation.

Saturday evening at 9:58, the Medical Center at Princeton received a bomb threat call, but a search of the Center by police and hospital employees revealed everything in order.

JOGGER IS VICTIM

Of Open Lewdness Act. A 21-year-old Princeton University student was the target of a flasher last week as she jogged along the tow path near S. Harrison Street.

According to police, a man sitting on the ground spoke to her as she jogged by. When she made the turn and came past him again, he exposed himself and began making sexually suggestive remarks.

Police are looking for a white male, approximately 30 years old, with partially balding blondish-brown hair, a moustache and beard and large, bulging blue eyes.

FAST FREDDIE CHARGED

In Ring Theft. A Trenton resident, who swallowed a ring to avoid being charged with theft, ended up being charged by police anyway.

Even though the ring has not been recovered, Freddie Washington, 27, of Cuyler Avenue, has been charged with the theft of a $150 ring from the Village Silver Shop on Witherspoon Street. In addition, he is charged with shoplifting at Woolworth's here and Trenton police have outstanding warrants for his arrest for shoplifting, parole violation and narcotic offenses.

After being charged and scheduled for Borough court, Washington was released to the Trenton police.

When police received an 11:06 call from the Silver Shop reporting the ring theft, a description of the suspect was given to the patrol units. Ptl. Glenn Stanton observed a man fitting the description at the corner of Witherspoon and Nassau Streets.

When the suspect was identified as having been in the silver shop, he was taken to headquarters. During processing, after his handcuffs had been removed, Washington, police said, quickly removed a ring from his jacket pocket and swallowed it.

Police got a court order to have him x-rayed at the Princeton Medical Center, where the x-rays were negative. After an inspection of his cell, police believe that Washington may have forced the ring back up, from evidence found in the cell. The ring, Chief Michael Carnevale conceded, has not been found.

Shoplifter Charged. Township police have charged Zarmina A. Barakzoy, 25, 44 Tee-Ar Place with allegedly concealing butter and other food items worth $7.64 while shopping last week at the Acme Market in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Ms. Barakzoy was observed by a manager and taken into custody by Ptl. Robert Nielsen after police were called. She was later released, pending her appearance in Township court on Tuesday.

CAR STRIKES HOUSE
On Henry Avenue, "I don't know what happened. The car just "raced" and I couldn't stop it."

Mrs. Hilja Treumut, 66, 46 Henry Avenue, could give Ptl. Peter Savalli no other explanation why her 1981 car went out of control Thursday morning while she was attempting to turn into her driveway. Her car ran over a grass divider between her house and that of Louis Zalvino, 40 Henry Avenue, cut across the driveway and lawn before coming to rest.

Before stopping, her car traveled approximately 60 feet after leaving the roadway, damaging the brick siding and wooden frame of the Zalvino home, 20 feet of lawn and two Hazelnut trees. Ptl. Savalli checked the steering, brakes and accelerator of the Treumut car at the scene and found them to be in working order.

There were no charges. Mrs. Treumut was treated at nearby Princeton Medical Center for chest injuries.

Motorcyclist Injured. Early last week when 24-year-old Richard Jackson of 1604 Fox Run Drive, Plainsboro was riding his motorcycle on Cherry Hill Road and rounding a curve north of Crestwood Drive, a car coming in the opposite direction appeared in his lane.

To avoid a collision, Mr. Jackson turned to the right. His cycle skidded, causing him to lose control and go down an embankment near the driveway at 341 Cherry Hill Road. He was treated at the Medical Center for contusions and abrasions of the arms and hands. Ptl. Anthony Gaylord investigated.

BROTHERS CHARGED

In Pyne Hall Entry. Two Harrison Street brothers were arrested early Saturday morning and charged with the burglary and theft of a Pyne Hall dormitory room on the university campus.

James Tkacs, 28, and Jeffrey Tkacs, 24, both of 252 N. Harrison Street, were charged with B&T, while Jeffrey, who had to be forcibly subdued by police, was also charged with resisting arrest.

The two were surprised by a Pyne Hall occupant in her room at 3 in the morning. Both left when she entered and owned Stanworth housing project off Bayard Lane. Police report that an occupant and a guest were in a living room when they heard a noise in the dining room. Investigating, they saw a burglar who had taken a camera off a dresser.

The suspect, when confronted, threw the camera to the floor and fled the apartment. He is described as a black male, about 20 years old, six feet tall, 180 pounds with short hair, wearing a red jacket, blue sweat pants, light sneakers and a light-colored baseball hat.

That description fits a man who visited another apartment in the area at the same time. When the occupant heard noises at the front door she looked out and saw a black male standing on the front porch.

"What do you want?" She asked. The suspect told her he was looking for a person, gave a name and left. Police said that the occupant later noticed that her front door screen had been cut.

Gulick Road Home Entered. Township police report a Gulick Road home was entered and ransacked. The intruder broke a pane of glass to reach in and unlock a garage door prior to breaking another pane of glass to unlock a kitchen door leading from the garage.

Once inside, he ransacked all the bedrooms, police said, stealing personal items about the rooms. Ptl. Robert Buchanan responded to a 11:30 call Saturday morning. Township police, assisted by Borough Sgt. Peter Hanley, investigated an alarm sounding at a Winant Road home at 8:35 in the evening. An investigation revealed that screening in a balcony door at the rear of the house had been cut and pry marks on the door. No entry was gained, police said.

SEWER PROMISES? Officials Say Not. No "promises" were ever given about demolition of the old sewer plant, in the recollections of Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley and Sewer Operating Committee secretary George Olexa, the two officials said this week.

In a letter in last week's Town Topics, Steve M. Slaby, a professor of engineering at Princeton University who follows local sewer and environmental matters closely, called for "a public investigation" to find out why it was decided to demolish the old sewer treatment plant on River Road.

He charged that no public announcement of a pending demolition was ever made, and stated that the En-

Environmental Commission had elicited "a promise" from officials that the plant would not be destroyed without proper notification. "This promise was not kept," he declared.

Mr. Slaby said, in his letter, that the old sewer plant had "fantastic possibilities" for alternative uses, such as converting it to a re-cycling center using sludge and solid waste to produce steam, or using the settling tanks for storing fuel oil in times of glut for use in times of shortage.

Mr. Olexa said the Environmental Commission had asked Borough and Township governing bodies to delay demolition while other options were studied. The Commission was given six months.

When nothing was forthcoming in that time, $20,000 was appropriated for demolition. Mr. Olexa recalled. He said his records showed that the SOC wrote both Borough and Township in June of 1980 asking for demolition money. Bids were taken in October of that year, but they were too high. These matters were done publicly, he commented.

He also explained that insurance companies were concerned about danger. The old tanks held nine or 10 feet of water, and although they were covered, the covers were constantly in need of — and receiving — repair.

Mayor Cawley recalled the solid-waste disposal firm that asked the Township for permission to haul waste-loaded trucks to the old sewer plant. The waste was, in the mayor's memory, "nasty" chemical industrial waste, and the Township refused.

"Get rid of the plant" is the way we felt," the mayor said. "There was no promise."

Non-profit organizations from the Princeton area are invited to set up tables around the mall for the purpose of promoting their groups. They may solicit new members, raise funds through a bake sale or other means, and explain their purpose of their organization to the public through photographs, literature, slides or other displays. There is no charge. Tables will be provided on a first-come-first-served basis.

Groups have also been invited to take part in the center's ongoing "Summer Community Festival" by organizing an activity for children or others as a fundraiser during the months of July and August.

Among groups who will participate in Community Day are McCarter Theatre, Familyborn, Holistic Health Association, Delaware-Raritan Girl Scout Council, Princeton Art Association, Compassionate Friends, Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Mercer County, and the Princeton YMCA. There will be face painting, balloons, T-

Shirts, posters, baked goods, crafts, and even a car-wash!

Groups who will present activities later in the summer include the Princeton Street Theatre and New Stage at Intime. For further information call Pat Shuss at 921-6234.

STUDENT WINS AWARD

For Reporting Sports Results. Radio Station WHWH has presented its first annual $2,500 David Moss Memorial Scholarship Award to Stephen Fracasso, a senior at Ewing High School. A certificate of appreciation was also presented to Doug Myers of Montgomery High, among other high school students in the Delaware Valley area.

Prospective reporters for the 1982-83 school year attended the dinner at which presentations were made, along with athletic directors and school administrators. The program was conceived by Herb Hobler, chairman of the board of Nassau Broadcasting, not only to honor Mr. Moss, former sportster and station manager at WHWH, but also to give a scholarship to an area student who best contributes to the WHWH associate sports reporter program.

The purpose is to expand area sports reporting on WHWH. Area students compete for the scholarship by reporting their school's athletic results to the radio station.

WHWH held its second annual golf tournament for the benefit of the Delaware Raritan Lung Association at the Sky View Country Club in Robbinsville. Area businessmen and golfers joined Bill Bircher, Mike Mayo, Bill Rickett and Mr. Hobler, all from WHWH, in the outing. Prizes were awarded at a dinner following the golf event.

TO STORM KING

With Art Association. For the last 22 years, the Storm King Art Center has been acquiring and showing contemporary sculpture, and the June trip of the Princeton Art Association will be a journey to Storm King to see the collection.

The trip has been scheduled for this Sunday, June 13. The bus will leave from the Princeton Shopping Center at 10 a.m. and travel to New Wonder Cantonment, where the group will stop for a bring-your-own picnic lunch.

PAA faculty member and sculptor John Carbone will guide the tour when the group arrives at the Center. The permanent collection includes over 160 pieces, 90 outdoors in the 200 acres of gardens and fields.

The nucleus is 13 works by the late David Smith. Other artists represented are Nevelson, Noguchi, Witkin, Calder, Caro, Liberman and LeWitt. A retrospective of Barbara Hepworth will open the day of the visit.

Reservations may be made by calling 921-9173.

SEMINAR OF PROTEST

For Soviet Scientists. Scientists from Princeton and Rutgers Universities will hold a "Sunday Scientific Seminar in Exile" this Sunday from 3:30 to 5 to protest — and publicize — the violations of personal and academic freedom of Soviet scientists who apply to emigrate. The seminar will be held in Peyton Hall auditorium, Ivy Lane.

Specifically, this Sunday's seminar is to express support for Viktor Brailovsky, a cyberneticist and his wife, Irina, a numerical analyst. Dr. Brailovsky is a "refusenik," or one who has been refused permission to emigrate. He is now in internal exile in the Soviet Union.

Soviet refuseniks have been denied appropriate professional employment and have had their earned academic degrees cancelled, producing a Catch-22 situation in which they cannot be appointed to a professional position because they "lack" the required degree, according to sponsors of the Princeton seminar.

The refuseniks have organized, in Moscow, a Moscow Sunday Scientific Seminar — the only seminar most of them can attend — but even these are reportedly being suppressed. The Princeton Sunday Seminar is so called to express sympathy and support for the Moscow seminars. Sunday's program will present Jacques R. Fresco, professor of biochemistry at Princeton, in a slide-illustrated talk, "What Genetic Engineering is All About." It is described as a short, not highly technical presentation.

In addition, Mark Ya. Azbel, professor of physics at Tel Aviv University, former leader of the Moscow Sunday Seminar and author of "Refusenik: Trapped in the Soviet Union," will give an illustrated (slides) account of his experiences, and evaluate recent developments. A discussion period will follow.

Sponsors are Philip W. Anderson (Nobel, 1977), John N. Bahcall, Valentine Bargmann, Val L. Fitch (Nobel, 1980), Dr. Fresco, Harold P. Furth, Melvin B. Gottlieb, Jeremiah P. Ostriker, Arno Penzias (Nobel, 1978), Thomas G. Spiro and Eugene Wigner (Nobel, 1963), all of Princeton University and Joel Lebowitz of Rutgers. Organizers are Martin Kruskal and Thomas H. Stix, both of Princeton University.

FIRM SELECTED

For Waterfront Master Plan. The Hillier Group will prepare the master plan for the development of a 342-acre waterfront tract in Weehawken and West New York owned by Romulus Development Corp.

Romulus is a wholly-owned subsidiary of A-P-A Truck Leasing Corp., an intermodal carrier headquartered in North Bergen. Co-developer of the Romulus property is C. Raimondo and Sons of Fort Lee.

The Weehawken-West New York property was purchased by Arthur E. Imperatore, president of A-P-A, last December from Penn Central Properties. The Hudson River site is adjacent to the Lincoln Tunnel, and its coastline parallels midtown Manhattan for approximately two miles.

FIRM WINS AWARDS

In Design Competition. Cook and Shanosky Associates, graphic designers with offices at 221 Nassau Street has won five gold awards, one-third of the 15 top honors given this year by the Art Directors Club of New Jersey. The other ten gold awards were shared by nine other firms, at ceremonies at the Parsippany Hilton.

Cook and Shanosky also were presented one silver award and six certificates of excellence. Only 57 awards were given at the 19th annual event.

Connecticut, the panel of seven judges selected only 340 for exhibition. Cook and Shanosky submitted 13 entries and had 12 accepted.

The firm's gold award-winning entries were the S.D. Scott calendar and the Squibb Corporation annual report, both taking two awards each for design and photography direction, and a promotional brochure for the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art. Its design for an S.T. Peterson brochure took the silver award.

The designers won six certificates of excellence for an IBM poster, the Cluett-Peabody annual report, the Texwipe Company logo, the National Foundation for Advancement of the Arts logo and stationery, and two for an E.R. Squibb press kit and an antibiotic promotional package.

Roger Cook and Don Shanosky, principals of the firm, are graphic artists. Their work covers all forms of corporate communications for clients who rank among the world's top companies.

UNITED BANKS TO MOVE

To Carnegie Center. When business grows, space needs grow. So United Jersey Banks is moving its headquarters out of the present location in Forrestal Center, and into 100,000 square feet of new space in Carnegie Center, Route One and Alexander. The First National Bank of Princeton is the United Jersey bank most familiar to Princeton customers.

United Jersey's headquarters will stay in Forrestal for a time because ground won't be broken for the new headquarters until next spring, with completion scheduled for early in 1984.

United Jersey has signed a contract to buy a 12-acre parcel at the entrance to Carnegie Center. Plans call for the firm to use about 60 percent of the new building and rent out the rest. A branch bank would be part of the 60 percent.

The Hillier Group of architects has been retained to design the building.

T. Joseph Semrod, chairman and president of United Jersey, said the company decided to remain in the Princeton area because it is a central location for United Jersey's state-wide operations.

"From experience," he said, "we know that we benefit from the recognition that the name 'Princeton' has, both in

OBITUARIES

Loar L. Quickle, 71, former mayor of Pennington, died June 6 in the University of Pennsylvania Medical Center in Philadelphia.

Born in Frenchtown, W. Va., he lived in Pennington for 26 years before moving to Landsdale, Pa., to live with his sister. He was mayor of Pennington in 1966 and '67 and served as a member of the Pennington Council beginning in 1961 when he filled an unexpired term.

He was also the president of the Fighting 69th Infantry Division Association Inc., and in 1965 organized a reunion of that division, which 20 years earlier was involved in the link-up of American and Russian military forces in World War II which led to the fall of Berlin. In 1945, a lieutenant in Quickle's division crept across a bridge over the Elbe River near Torgau, Germany, and met a Russian private, signifying the link-up of forces.

A 1931 graduate of Lumberton, W. Va., High School, Mr. Quickle was president of his class during all four of his high school years. He was a past president of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce and manager of the Princeton University Store until he retired in 1976. He was once employed by F.W. Woolworth in Princeton and was a member of the Princeton Masonic Lodge No. 38.

In addition to his sister, Alpha Miller of Landsdale, Pa., he is survived by three daughters, Lauren and Dawn Quickle, both of North Atlantic Beach, Fla., and Yvonne Capasso of Landsdale; a son, Loar Jr. of Weirton, W. Va.; and 10 grandchildren.

The service will be held this Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Huff and Lakjer Funeral Home, Derstine and Cannon Avenues, Landsdale. Friends and relatives may call after 7. The graveside service will be Thursday at 2 in the Lumberton Cemetery, Harrison County, W. Va.

Jean Sapienta Breese, 43, of North Plainfield, formerly of Princeton, died June 4 at her home.

Mrs. Breese was born in Trenton and lived there until moving to Princeton in the 1950's. She had lived in Plainfield for the past year and was employed in her father's business, Frank's Shoe Repair, here.

The former wife of Roger C. Breese of Monmouth Junction, she is survived by two daughters, Trina J. and Brenda L. Breese who live at home; a brother, Frank Sapienta of Pennsylvania; two sisters, Theresa Pragliola of Pennington and Salina Tedeschi of Holly Hill, Fla.; two half-brothers, Gary and Paul Sapienta; and a half-sister, Debra Sapienta.

The service will be Thursday at 11 at the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, 40 Vandeventer Avenue. Friends may call this Wednesday from 7 to 9 at the funeral home.

Harry Rogers Sr., 63, of Berrien Court, died June 3 in Princeton Medical Center.

Mr. Rogers was born in Macon, Ga., and was employed by Cottage Club at Princeton University. He was a U.S. Navy veteran of World War II and a member of the Charles W. Robinson American Legion Post 218 in Princeton.

He is survived by a daughter, Diana Rogers of Oakland, Calif.; a son, Harry Rogers Jr., stationed with the U.S. Air Force in North Carolina; a brother, Peter Rogers Sr. and a sister, Willia Mae Miles, both of Neptune; and four grandchildren.

The service will be held Friday at 2 in the Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue, with burial in Princeton Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from noon until the time of service.

William C. Quinn, manager of engineering at Beecham Laboratories in Piscataway and resident of Pennington, N.J., died June 1 at Middlesex General Hospital in New Brunswick after a short illness.

Mr. Quinn was a graduate of Rutgers University and twice a member of the Rutgers board of trustees. He was active in formulating and guiding graduate and professional programs and served on the Governor's committee with regard to student relations, the audit committee and the theater company. He was a past president of the Rutgers Alumni Association and past president of the Rutgers Alumni and Faculty Center.

He was active in many civic and business organizations. He served as board member of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children. Other directorships included those of the Piscataway Chamber of Commerce and McCarter Theatre. He was on the executive committee of the New Jersey Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation.

Mr. Quinn was a member of the American Chemical Society and served on the production and engineering steering committee of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association and the New Jersey production and engineering section of that organization. He was also a member of the North Jersey Pharmaceutical Plant Engineers Association and participated in the Area Managers Organization.

His business career started at Merck & Co. in Rahway where he rose to factory area manager. He was director and vice president of engineering at Fairmount Chemical Company and subsequently served as overseas chemical development manager for E.R. Squibb and Sons prior to joining Beecham.

He is survived by his wife Susan, daughters Debbie and Eileen, a son, William, and granddaughter Meaghan.

A memorial service will be held in Kirkpatrick Chapel on the campus of Rutgers University on a date to be announced. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Mr. Quinn's memory to the Rutgers University Foundation, 191 College Avenue, New Brunswick.

Jimmy Stewart

Then he told how, as a trustee, he had "fought to the last minute against girls coming here," not knowing that his own twin daughters yearned for Princeton.

"Well, when I found that out, I had to back-track. Now I'm all for it."

The two daughters, however, went to college elsewhere.

"I never was a good student," Mr. Stewart told reporters. "It was always touch and go. The fact is that I survived calculus and college algebra but didn't survive Spanish — the only Spanish I can remember now is 'Please hand in your exercise notebooks.'"

He started out to be a civil engineer. But after freshman year, his math professor said, "You'd better think very seriously about being something else, or you'll be in deep trouble."

"I took the hint."

In summer school before sophomore year, he decided on architecture, and eventually had a scholarship for a graduate degree in architecture, but then.....

An Actor Before He Knew It.
"Josh Logan invited me up to Massachusetts to the University Players one summer. Then it was Broadway and before I knew it, I was an actor."

"I discourage young people who say they don't want to study anything but acting — those classes where the teacher says 'Now, everybody be a pine tree.' Princeton is a special place, where you learn all sorts of things about thinking and reasoning and history. It's worthwhile working hard, and the effort pays off."

Asked how he felt about having the Triangle Club show, "Stocks and Bondage," dedicated to him, Mr. Stewart grinned and said, "I'm not supposed to know that," but added that, obviously, he was pleased.

After Saturday night's "Stocks and Bondage," there was an on-stage party at McCarter for all Triangle Club members returning for reunions. Mr. Stewart had brought film clips made back in the days of the Ed Sullivan show, when he'd been invited to be on the show but couldn't attend because of movie commitments.

The clips showed the 1931 Triangle show, "The Tiger Smiles" with lyrics by Josh Logan and a song by Jimmy Stewart, "On A Sunday Evening."

The clips didn't show Stewart doing Shakespeare. He's never acted in Shakespeare, he told reporters, and in fact, flunked his Shakespeare course at Princeton.

"It was taught by my father's former Princeton room-mate, and he told me he'd done all he could for me, but — no way."

It doesn't seem to have mattered.

TWO EVENTS PLANNED

For Church Anniversary. A special service will be held Sunday at 10 in celebration of the 125th anniversary of the First Reformed Church, Washington Street, Rocky Hill. The church was dedicated in 1857.

The guest speaker will be Dr. Paul Fries, associate professor of theology and ministry at New Brunswick Seminary. Dr. Fries served on the faculty of New Brunswick Seminary for 10 years before earning his doctorate of theology at the University of Utrecht, Holland, in 1979. He served as pastor of Hope Reformed Church in Holland, Mich., before returning to New Brunswick Seminary in his present post.

In the evening, as a special commemoration of the anniversary, the Somerville United Reformed Church Handbell Choir will perform at 7 in the sanctuary. The choir is directed by Glenn Miller, a graduate of Westminster Choir College, and consists of 11 high school students who ring five octaves or a total of 61 bells. They have been playing for four years in church and at concerts, in addition to national and area festivals sponsored by the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers.

They perform a variety of music, ranging from the classics and pop to sacred and secular. The public is invited to the concert, for which a freewill offering will be taken. A reception will follow in the church hall.

BUILDING DEDICATED

By West Windsor Congregation. Congregation Beth Chaim in West Windsor Township celebrated the dedication of its new building with a special service conducted by Rabbi Eric Wisnia, spiritual leader of the congregation. Joining the Rabbi was his father, Cantor David Wisnia.

Greetings were received from West Windsor Mayor Douglas Forrester and Mayor Leonard Milner of East Windsor. Opening remarks were by Richard Stoller, president of the Congregation, and Sheppard Massar, former president and current chairman of the building committee transferred the Torah to the new Ark. Rabbi Ronald Roth of Beth El Congregation gave the benediction.

Congregation Beth Chaim was established in East Windsor in 1971 by a group of 50 families, who later purchased land on Village Road East in West Windsor. The original building was erected in 1976 to serve an anticipated membership of 150 families.

The newly expanded building will house the school population of 500 students, and the new sanctuary will accommodate the current membership of 350 families and can be expanded to hold 500 families. The kitchen and social hall has been enlarged as well.

Families of this congregation are drawn from Princeton, East and West Windsor, Lawrence and Franklin Townships. There is an active Sisterhood, Men's Club, Junior and Senior Youth Groups, a Singles Group and a choir.

For information call 799-9401.

NEW LISTING

THE GREAT INDOORS: Even a big house can often be very short on real living space, but this architect designed New England Colonial has plenty of room in the right places for a large active family. Besides a beautifully proportioned sunken living room with high ceilings and a secluded library, there is an enormous playroom panelled in indestructible pickled pine and thoughtfully located in a wing by itself. There are two main entrance ways, one for adults and the other for children. A formal dining room opens to a most imaginative stone terrace and the eat-in kitchen is a dream. Four bedrooms and two and one half baths. One and one half acres with lawns, gardens and woods. $260,000

BUG-OF-THE-WEEK
By J. Drew Foster,

Bagworms

Inconspicuous and potentially very destructive, bagworms should not be ignored when spotted on your ornamental trees and shrubs. Bagworms are caterpillars that encase themselves in silken bags covered with bits of twigs and leaves from the host plant. The bag reaches a maximum length of about 1½ inches, and is carried with the caterpillar as it feeds.

A wide variety of plants, from low-spreading junipers to oak trees are attacked. In our area, juniper and arborvitae receive the most damage. Birches and locusts are also frequently infested, and most deciduous and evergreen trees and shrubs are subject to this non-selective defoliation.

Bagworm eggs hatch in early June and the young caterpillars begin feeding and building their bags. Feeding continues into late July or early August when caterpillars pupate (transform into adults) in their respective bags. The adult males emerge after about 2 weeks, fly to the wingless females that remain in their bags, and mate. Each female produces 500-1,000 eggs that overwinter in the mothers' bags, to hatch in early June and repeat the cycle. Dispersal is limited to the caterpillars' movement, so infestations are generally very localized, confined to a single tree or more frequently to a hedge row.

Chemical controls for heavy infestations should be applied during mid-June, when bags are small. A good stomach poison should be applied to infested foliage.

During the winter, bagworm bags are easily spotted on deciduous trees and shrubs. These should be pruned out and destroyed. On evergreens, hand removal of bags is more time-consuming, but is the most positive means of control in light infestations.

Call us for plant pest control and pest management consultation.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

MULCHES WORK "MAGIC" FOR MAINTENANCE

with Sam De Turo
Woodwinds Associates

Using mulches may be one of the most valuable maintenance practices because they help to maintain uniform soil moisture and temperature, reduce erosion, discourage weed growth and enhance the appearance of the landscape while reducing maintenance time.

Organic mulches are especially good for use with such shallow-rooted plants as azalea, rhododendron and holly because they keep the soil cooler in summer and conserve moisture. As organic mulches decompose, they may add small amounts of nutrients to the soil. However, they should not be considered a substitute for feeding. Organic mulches also deplete the soil of nitrogen during the decomposition process. If nitrogen is not added regularly, a deficiency may result.

Most organic mulches should be applied to a 2 to 3 inch depth or a depth sufficient to prevent weed growth. More mulch should be added as the old mulch decomposes.

A few organic mulches that can be used are: grass clippings, straw, crushed corn cobs, sawdust, hulls, compost, manure and leaves. Check to make sure you know the benefits of each and also their shortcomings.

P.S. Don't forget to drop in on the GARDEN TENT at the Hospital Fete this year! Chairwoman, Merritt Hogan has lots of great perennials, annuals, hanging baskets and a charming array of new goodies this year including the Strawberry Jars planted with herbs, darling bucket and shovel sets for the kiddies, planted beautifully. The Seesational Fete is June 12 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Oo drop in!

Peter McCrohan's Grass Roots Operation Paying Off with Top Quality Strawberries

Peter J. McCrohan wants to keep his operation local, top-quality and small. Except for the small, the words apply precisely to Peter himself.

His operation is a small-berry farm — "I never think of myself as a farmer!" — on North Post Road, West Windsor. Right now, it's strawberries: 425 quarts picked on a routine day, no berry ever sold more than 12 hours out of the field, every berry the reddest, sweetest, juiciest that ever dribbled down your chin. Forget the sugar, cream and shortcake.

In July, it will be raspberries. Strawberries and raspberries are the only two crops. Except for the lupines and columbines that overflow a curving perennial bed. But Peter planted those just for his own pleasure.

Peter J. McCrohan? Sound familiar?

"People used to say 'Oh, you're Pete McCrohan's son.' Now they say to my father, 'Are you Peter McCrohan's father?'"

And a splendid laugh emerges from the biggest, bushiest, reddest beard in Mercer County.

Peter McCrohan's father is the former Princeton Borough police chief. Peter went to Princeton High (class of '69), spent a couple of years in college but didn't really like it ("I fished a lot...") and is now a part-time student at Mercer County Community College and an employee of Jac and Cornelia Weller on their Princeton Township farm.

It's hard to find out exactly why he turned to farming. Yes, he was in charge of field work for "herbicide discovery" at American Cyanamid, and he learned some techniques, but that experience chiefly served to show him what he didn't want.

"I want small, local and BERRY MAN: Peter J. McCrohan Jr. grows strawberries on North Post Road, West Windsor, and you can't possibly miss his sign. It was painted by artist Ken McIndoe, and it will still be there in July, when raspberries succeed strawberries as The Crop.

quality," and he emphasizes these three qualities constantly. "The opposite of what Cyanamid is encouraging."

Several years ago, Peter rented an apartment on Sam Goldman's former chicken farm, there on North Post Road. Mr. Goldman let him plant 100 strawberry plants. He had vegetables, too, and sold his produce locally, but even for this energetic, sinewy enthusiast, it was just too much.

"I'm a one-person operation, and to pick, cultivate, plant and sell — impossible! I decided to concentrate on just one thing: berries."

Crop is Planted. On his first strawberry acre, he had cover crops of soy beans and Sudan grass for 18 months. Then he plowed them under. In April of last year, he and his crew of kids set out 6,000 strawberry plants, all in one day.

"All the kids live in the neighborhood and ride their bikes here. It's a very local thing."

Last summer, he cultivated, kept the weeds out, hoed by hand, with his young crew of five. For a winter blanket, he mulched with straw. Now, in '82, the first harvest.

After the harvest, in July, he'll renovate the beds by clearing out the weeds. This acre will be picked next year, too, and maybe a third year "if I maintain it properly: there's a lot I still have to learn."

Four acres are in this rotation system. He's been adding one acre a year, still as a tenant of Mr. Goldman's, and this is his fifth season.

"I never add anything, because it CAN be done without chemicals. I stay completely away from chemical fertilizer."

The books say, Peter admits with a shake of his red beard, you should get 8,000 quarts to the acre. The best he's done is 4,000.

"I want to get better — not bigger."

A lot of important buyers think he's "quality" right now. He sells to Lahiere's, Thomas' Sweets, The Whole Earth Center, Cox's, Cafe au Lait. His 12 pickers work every day: the morning shift picks for the roadside trade (lots of traffic on North Post Road), the afternoon and early-evening shift for early morning delivery. Eager, conscientious pickers: Peter pays 40 cents a quart; twice what commercial growers pay.

"I don't pick anything unless I know it's sold: I can sell 60 quarts, roadside; if it's wet — and it's been WET! — I have ten people I can call who'll drop everything and buy five cases for freezing — and I have the in-town market calls."

Want to know what all that juicy goodness is? Peter praises "Raritan" as the "absolute best" berry for flavor, shelf-life and appearance. He also plants a 30-year favorite, "Sparkle", the late "Jersey Belle" and the earlier "Early Glow."

You pay $1.75 for a brimming quart, $14 for an eight-quart crate. Call Peter at 799-3785.

And if you can take your eyes off the berries and Peter's own barbarossa splendor, look down at his muddy boots. His shoelaces are printed with strawberries.

"Get into the swim" and plan for a full day of fun and games at the "Seasational Fete," Saturday, from 9 to 6, rain or shine, on the Princeton University fields on Washington Road.

The 29th June Fete which benefits the Medical Center at Princeton will be dedicated this year to Princeton University in appreciation of the years of co-operation which have existed between the University and the Medical Center.

A champagne preview in the Gallery of Art Friday from 6-8 will launch the Atlantis Affair featuring a steak buffet and dancing to the music of the Don Young Band.

"All aboard" at 9 a.m. Saturday for a full day of full sailing among the tents and booths of the "Seasational Fete." A variety of food will be available including barbequed chicken, hot dogs, hamburgers and french fries, fresh strawberry short cake and Italian ices and, this year to compliment the seashore theme, there will be a clam bar as an added attraction.

Frozen food booths will sell casseroles, hors d'oeuvre and desserts including pecan pie, bourbon pie and assorted cheesecakes.

Everyone is invited to the Lane of Shops which will incorporate the Ship's Gallery (art), Chandler's Cove (boutique), Neptune's Fork (kitchen), Flotsam and Jetsam (flea market), Titon's Togs (used clothing), Remnant Reef (fabrics), Pirate's Treasure (jewelry), and Yule-Tide (Christmas ornaments).

Free entertainment is scheduled all day, featuring Greek dancers, fencing, folk instrumentalists, "Mrs. Mime and More," the Princeton Ballet Society, a Jazz band, a drill team, a barber shop quartet and various gymnasts and musical groups.

Auction, Too. The fete Auction from 9-6 under the big tent will offer a collection of objects, old and new, including a 1964 Triumph Spit Fire and a 22-foot fiber-glass sailboat. At 10 a full selection of office furniture will be auctioned. Robert Heller will be the auctioneer, assisted by Ruth Block.

The Backyard Sale will return with ready-priced house and garden items and appliances. The auction tent will be open for a "sneak preview" and sealed bids on Friday from 1-4 and Saturday from 8-9.

News Of The THEATRES

THAT MIDNIGHT SCREEN
Plus 12 Doubles. On top of — or following, if you prefer — McCarter's 12 double-dip feature movies scheduled for Summer Cinema, will be three special midnight movies.

The first one, on the Fourth of July weekend, will be "Richard Pryor Live in Concert," booked for 11:15 p.m. Made in 1979, the film is regarded by most critics as better than the Pryor now making the rounds of local houses. It's the one with the sequence in which the comedian plays not only a heart-attack victim (which he was), but the heart attack itself.

On July 23-24, as the third in a triple feature, Summer Cinema midnight will show "The Last Waltz." (Other components of the bill: "Coal Miner's Daughter" and "The Rose".) "The Last Waltz" is the film record of the last concert of the rock group "The Band," given in San Francisco on Thanksgiving Day, 1976. A lot of guest stars helped things along, including Bob Dylan, Eric Clapton, Van Morrison, Joni Mitchell and Ringo Starr.

During sci-fi week, Summer Cinema will show, on August 20 and 21 at 11:15, Ridley Scott's "Alien." Sigourney Weaver, Tom Skerritt and John Hurt play members of a spacecraft crew whose craft is entered by an alien creature up to absolutely no good whatsoever.

"BE ACTIVE"

Says Street Theatre. To keep kids ACT-ive this summer, advises Princeton Street Theatre, Inc. — sign 'em up with Street Theatre. Workshops in acting, mime, improvisation, jazz dance, set building, theatre games and lighting will mark PST's 11th season. For information: 466-1482.

In mid-July, PST will produce the first of its summer plays, the comedy "Pfeiffer's People." Auditions will be held Wednesday and Thursday, June 23 and 24 from 5 to 9 p.m. at PST's headquarters on Juniper Row, Princeton Community Village, off Bunn Drive, off North Harrison Street. Audition information: 799-8495.

In late July, the annual production for children will be on the program. This year, it's "The Hobbit."

In August, Street Theatre will present the mystery.

Kate Stear, concertmistress of the PHSO, received the first place award for soloist for her performance of the first movement of the Mendelssohn Violin Concerto. The orchestra also performed Leonard Bernstein's "Overture to Candide" for the judges.

At the Awards Finale held the day following the actual competition, Jacob Smullyan performed the Liszt Hungarian Fantasy for Piano and Orchestra, at the invitation of the director of the festival, and received a standing ovation from the audience of well over 1,000 in the ballroom of the Sheraton Washington Hotel.

The orchestra members themselves raised a significant portion of the money required to send two busloads of students plus all their instruments (including five double basses) to Washington for three days and two nights. They gave many extra chamber music performances during the last few months, as well as the gala Benefit Concert at PHS on May 20, and helped sell commemorative posters.

While in Washington there was time set aside for sightseeing, including a special tour of the White House arranged through Senator Bradley's office, the Air and Space Museum, Folger Shakespeare Library, Library of Congress, National Gallery, Lincoln Memorial, dinner in Georgetown, and other attractions.

One of the unexpected highlights of the trip was the orchestral workshop by internationally known conductor Jonathan Sternberg, who worked intensively with the PHSO for over an hour on those important details which make the difference between a good performance and a great one.

MUSICIANS NEEDED

For Weill Musical. NewStage, the new summer theater company operating out of Murray Theatre on the Princeton University campus, needs volunteer musicians to play in the orchestra during July 22-August 1.

The production will be the 1929 musical, "Happy End" by Kurt Weill and Bertolt Brecht. Jeff Kanefield will be musical director. Those who volunteer will be asked to plan a rehearsal period of four to five weeks.

In addition, NewStage will need an accordion player for its third production, "The Freedom of the City," to be presented August 5-15.

If you're interested, you are asked to call 452-8181, or go to Murray Theatre.

NewStage's first production of the season, "Scapino," doesn't need musicians. This adaptation of Moliere's farce, "The Adventures of Scapin," takes place in a Naples pizza parlor. It is so geared to family entertainment that NewStage publicity quotes the New York Times' critic who saw the original production:

"If you let your kids miss this, you will be simply inhuman."

Scholarship Support vital.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a senior at Princeton High School, I would like to express my appreciation and admiration to the many community groups which support the area seniors in terms of scholarship loans and grants. With the new restrictions in federal funds, students are increasingly forced to seek additional, "outside", aid.

Our community is fortunate to have many organizations, service clubs, and support groups: the Lions Club, the Club, the Lions Club, the Lioness Club, the Dorothea McClean Foundation, the Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation (PRSF), the Business and Professional Womens Club (BPW), the Paul Robeson Center, the Princeton Regional Educational Association (PREA), and many others, which offer scholarships ranging from $200 to $1000 or more, as well as low interest loans and even summer job opportunities.

This support is vital. For many students, the local aid can mean the assurance of a first years enrollment — enabling the student to "take the rest as it comes." I urge everyone to support these local scholarship committees. Only by continual community support will they be able to continue, and grow stronger, thus guaranteeing support for future senior classes.

Rain Cancels Parade.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On behalf of Princeton American Legion Posts no. 76 and no. 218 I thank all local municipal officials, organization and their members, for their time and effort in making preparations for the annual Memorial Day parade and cemetery rituals, and only to have the parade cancelled due to wet weather. I understand it was the first time in memory! Thanks also to Town Topics for the publicity accorded the event, and to the Princeton community for their cooperation.

Information, Please

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Since banks are businesses which provide a service, I think it is important for them to have a prominent sign displayed in their lobbies which says "INFORMATION." It should be located near the person designated to help the customer with his or her inquiry.

The Princeton Public Library has an excellent "INFORMATION" sign located at the reference desk.

While on the subject of banks, I noticed the plan to relocate the Drive-In Bank of the Princeton Bank. If I have visualized it correctly, it seems to me that at busy times, cars in line for that service would back out onto Nassau Street which would add to traffic problems there and might prove to be dangerous. If that is indeed the case, I can see people taking their business elsewhere.

What is the matter with the Drive-In Bank's present location?

GERALDINE L. BOONE

31 Greenough Drive

Good Location for PCH

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to express my opinion that the Harrison Street Park would be a good location for the Princeton Community Housing development. I live within a block of the park and have spent many enjoyable days in this hidden green area in the neighborhood.

I've often been struck by how large and under-used the park is. While less so in the summer, I'm frequently the only person walking through. This park might get more of the appreciation and use it deserves, if housing were built in its environs.

While I cannot speak for others nor do I always expect to live here, it seems to me that this could be a fully acceptable location for housing either for the elderly or for families. In fact, it might even enrich the park more if children from such a development were constantly enjoying the park's swings, basketball court and other features.

I believe that a sensitively designed project could use a minimal amount of the parkland and provide a beneficial complement to this pleasant place to visit. Princeton badly needed affordable housing for both the elderly and families, and while other sites may be found (and I hope more than just one project will be built over the years), part of the Harrison Street park seems a sensible place to consider.

Garage Wasn't 'Right.'

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I'm puzzled. Over the last five years or more there has been endless talk, meetings of city councils, of planning boards, of zoning boards, votes, referenda, letters pro and con, committees, lists of "Who's Who in Princeton" in favor of this or that, but nothing has happened. I'm talking about the proposals for the development of the downtown, for parking garages and for subsidized housing.

Do the people playing these games really think anything will happen, or do they have reasons I don't understand for playing a doomed game on and on? Do they believe their own optimistic prophecies that something will happen in weeks or months, when it never has? Do they continue to believe these week after week for years?

What is it then, is it impossible to move without being checked in the borough of Princeton? After this long time I believe an earlier hunch is correct: unless a proposal is "right," it won't fly here. So I wish to propose an extension to the recent fad of sociobiology, which can be called urban-sociobiology: in the jungle of neighborhoods, and with the zoo of interest groups composed of many with the time and money to fight any conceivable cause: survival only of the very fittest projects in towns such as Princeton.

So what is the conclusion? I think it has to be: only propose those projects that are right and don't try to push and coax half-done and half-satisfactory things over on the town. Let me give some examples. I voted against the Spring Street garage not to be against progress or against the elderly, but because it was not being done right.

The PCH building was misplaced, it was too big, too ugly, in short, unimaginative. It and the garage would have wiped out all open surface parking, and this could only deter a sizable fraction of the population with a fear of garages from shopping downtown. Now the Palmer Square Chambers Street garage is being challenged.

Again, something is not being done right. The traffic pattern for the proposed drive-in bank is sure to snarl. What do we do about it? We fight. Why don't we do it right? Put the bank somewhere that the cars can queue off the street.

If anyone wants my opinion about possible solutions to these things, here it is. I believe the site north of the Princeton Shopping Center is natural and "right" for PCH. Even building a moderate highrise, combined with some low structure could be good (c.f., the University's Lawrence Apartments).

Building over the Shopping Center itself might be right, although perhaps too cumbersome and disrupting to construct. Proposals to take green parks and the like are absurd and surely to be opposed. Of course, PCH could have been built right in town if someone had gotten together to do what made sense: build all the parking garage space underground on the Palmer Square lot. Three stories could be put underground, enough for thousands of cars.

For the rest of our valuable undeveloped downtown land we could then have housing, more retail and commercial space and still keep some of our open parking lots. Some rock will have to be removed. The underground water can be drained to sites down Bayard Lane. It might cost more; I don't know and nobody else seems to know or to want to know. Garages are built deep in cities every day. So could we.

I think it is time to do more things on principle and with integrity and to propose developments that the public can get excited about. The recent proposals have been so expedient, many can only greet them with muffled groans. We need to think less about endless plazas, fountains, and racetracks (that Palmer Square "racetrack" was essential until it was forgotten).

We need to think more about the things that will really attract shoppers and other business to downtown: variety, integrity, serendipity, more density, more byways to shop. Analyses of some ideal commercial "mix" will not always work. They are not a substitute for a few sound decisions followed by the many feet of the marketplace.

Suppose we had made a daring decision five years ago in Princeton to build all the parking we could possibly need underground. How many hundreds of thousand dollars of studies, not to say years of our time and agony and of lost opportunities could have been saved?

IT'S NEW

To Us

IT'S ALL FRESH

At PLENTIFUL ACRES. It is always a pleasure to run up to PLENTIFUL ACRES on Route 27 and select wonderfully fresh farm produce; however, in the future, it will be a still more satisfying experience when owner Don Salvia completes his plans for expansion.

Mr. Salvia envisions a small peddler's village being built up around the nucleus of his own barn which he will renovate one day.

He is presently working on the interior of his home which adjoins his produce shop.

The old house currently situated on the roadside will be moved further back into the woods of the Salvia's five-acre estate to make room for his projected village which will include his own bakery and perhaps a holistic natural foods and health center as well as the fine meat market and fish shop already housed in PLENTIFUL ACRES.

"It is going to be a very exciting project once we get it under way, but I could never have made it this far without the support and help of my customers," says Mr. Salvia with enthusiasm. Service is the bottom line at PLENTIFUL ACRES and caring about his customers is the most important ingredient to a successful business according to its owner. A visit to the shop will attest to the fact that its surroundings and recent facelift have made shopping there still more pleasurable.

Creative landscaping, all done by the owner, and a small greenhouse called Bayberry Florist attract the shopper. Mr. Salvia's ever-increasing collection of large antique wagons and farming tools give the place a cozy homespun atmosphere. Unusual pieces such as: an antique typewriter; a scale; lanterns; an old saddle; a yoke; and various pitch forks decorate the walls of the entry foyer of PLENTIFUL ACRES where one can choose huge succulent watermelons.

Inside a refurbished flat buckboard rig with bright red wheels displays delicious fresh asparagus and other delectable vegetables. There is something special about shopping in at a PLENTIFUL ACRES, perhaps the shining fruits and vegetables neatly stacked give one a touch of nostalgia for days gone by when shopping was more personal and unhurried. The shop encourages time and space for individual selection because of course nothing comes prepackaged so customers may choose fruits and vegetables for their table.

NEW LOOK AT PLENTIFUL ACRES: PLENTIFUL ACRES on Route 27 has a new look these days reminiscent of a country store which sells superb fresh fruits and vegetables but with a cozy atmosphere achieved by lovely plantings and the use of antique machinery from an old farm. A refurbished buckboard with bright red wheels is used to sell delicious vegetables such as the fresh asparagus seen here.

Natural Foods. As we become increasingly aware of the importance of fresh natural foods in the diet, it will be helpful to shop where their selection is so enormous. Planning meals is no problem after a stroll through the shop. Fruits for yummy desserts or snacks might include: strawberries; blueberries; cherries; nectarines; papaya; pears, apricots, or kiwis to mention a few.

Even if one is not only limited to vegetables in the diet, passing by PLENTIFUL ACRES's vegetable department will give one lots of ideas for less expensive, all-vegetable meals which are so healthy and a welcome change from the regular routine. These vegetables are irresistible especially in the summertime when one can almost smell the farm where they were grown. They include for instance: parsnips, nappa, snow peas; endive, watercress; artichokes; a variety of corn, celery hearts and broccoli.

What is more tasty and healthy than a full vegetable course? Why not be creative this summer with a sweet and Country Meats N' Things, also located in Monmouth Junction, is a full service butcher shop whose motto reads "You will have no bones to pick with us!" It is certainly true if their choice cuts of meats on display and delicious homemade dishes available daily are any indication. Every day during the lunch hour savory dishes such as stuffed peppers, sausage bread, quiche and many kinds of sandwiches are prepared. Irresistible rolls with combinations of meats and sausages and onion can be brought home to compliment the well-prepared meat dinner.

On weekends, the deli offers a variety of hors d'oeuvres such as stuffed celery, shrimp or tuna puffs, or cheese rounds. In fact, the shop caters for all occasions. For $3.50 per person one may select party platters full of ham, roast beef, salami, ham capicola, turkey breast, pepperroni and salads. Special selections for barbecuing are offered all summer. The deli features the Boar's Head brand of cold cuts and stands behind its good reputations.

A flier with several money saving freezer plans is available at Country Meats N' Things so let them help to plan meals. New hot specialties include: kielbasa and sauerkraut, baked chicken and Swedish meatballs.

What could be a more satisfying gift to receive than a basket full of fruits, meats, vegetables and relishes from PLENTIFUL ACRES? Gift baskets such as these may be custom ordered and make wonderful summertime house and thank-you presents.

A quick look and one will find other interesting condiments, multigrain bread mixes, varieties of honeys, natural preserves and unusual teas. Store hours are from 10 to 6 Monday through Saturday and on Fridays until 7.

SHOP FOR DAD

At Viking Furniture. Father's day is a traditional time when we stop to reflect just how special is that man in our lives. There are many thoughtful gifts to be found in our shops here in the Princeton area. Viking Furniture has just begun a fantastic promotion which will assure a bit more comfort in a father's life.

The famous Norwegian stressless designs in furniture will be available at reduced prices exclusively at Viking Furniture until the end of September. Soft and luxurious leather chairs, many with matching ottomans, will make any man feel like a king, a welcome relief from hours spent this spring grooming the garden and the lawn!

Handsome chairs, bedroom sets, tables and wall systems in the fresh contemporary lines created by the Westnafa Ekornes company of Norway are included in the fabulous promotion which will save the buyer a lot of money and enhance the home's decor.

Ultimate comfort and clarity of design seem to distinguish the entire collection of furnishings imported from Scandinavia by Viking of 259 Nassau St. which are now on sale in conjunction with the special promotion. Among the most distinctive of the stressless chairs are those called the "original", built for total relaxation with adjustable positions on a copper patinated, chrome-plated or even gold-plated steel swivel base which rotates 360 degrees.

Another attractive alternative is the "royal" stressless with its circular wooden base.

Reunions at Allens

If you were wondering why there was such a crowd last weekend at Nassau St. it was because Allen's was running their own reunion of sorts. It's window was gaily decorated in the Princeton motif welcoming back the class of 1957 with a display of all of its former reunion costumes for the fifth, 10th, 15th, and 20th celebrations.

Graduates of that class will not forget the bustle which took place in the shop last week as they picked up their blazers of orange, black and white jungle-type print, white Lee jeans, and black shirts made by Robert Bruce. Everyone seemed to think that the return percentage of the class of 1957 was amazingly large. Surely there were at least six

THE BALANS CHAIR: Kathy Oakley, assistant manager of Viking Furniture, demonstrates the comfort of the unique Balans chair, one of the many Norwegian designs now on special promotion through September at the contemporary furniture shop. Handsome leather sofas and sectionals along with the full inventory of teak, walnut, and oak wall systems and dining room sets are presently on sale.

A deserving father might even enjoy a nap in this chair because the back adjusts to an almost flat position while his feet will be resting on the matching ottoman.

The lustre of Bangkok teak or Brazilian rosewood crafted into handsome bedroom suites are included in the Westnafa Ekornes promotion. These attractive combinations of different-sized platform beds, dressers, single or double backboards with night tables, and wardrobes will streamline a bedroom and hide much of the clutter which so often accumulates. Other promotional pieces include: cheerful coral red "amigo" chairs and sofas; a trim rocker; and the award winning Siesta chair from Westnafa.

"What many people do not realize is that in the long run leather is a much better buy, which is why it is one of our best selling points here at Viking," explains owner Marty Bratman. It does seem to make a lot more sense to invest in a piece or a combination of matching pieces which will last a lifetime.

The top-grain leather pieces found at the shop come in many lovely colors. Those on the floor range from the dark chocolate browns to the lighter taffy colors. Grey is a popular color too and the chairs or couches may be ordered in any color, of leather or the wonderfully textured fabric manufactured in the Scandinavian countries.

Does your father need a new desk chair? Now is the time to buy one while they are on sale beginning at $55. These useful chairs of course have adjustable seats and backs and come in a variety of fabrics with or without arms. A father who has the time to rock would be delighted with the spectacular aerobic rocker which fully reclines. The design has won many awards.

The father who likes to play a challenging game would enjoy one of the several Scandinavian games designed by Piethe in solid teak such as Triple Cross, or the Pocy Hedron puzzle. If he is naively minded there is a terrific copper and brass ship model which would enhance an office wall or table. A train set found at Viking Furniture.

A most traditional and comfortable gift has been a white, teak, oak, and hammock to enjoy the fruits of summer work. Viking Furniture now has the Pawley's Island cotton hammocks on sale.

Those who will spend some time this summer redecorating would be wise to stop in the shop and see some of the exquisite modern designs which may give the home a new look. Mr. Bratman's assistant Kathy Oakley is a competent interior designer on hand to give advice about how to maximize one's use of space.

The OJ wall system, fully equipped for a large or small space, can be designed by the buyer without assistance. Sold in separate pieces to suit all needs it includes: wood and glass doors; bookcases, a bar; a desk; and space for a television or a computer. These distinctive systems can be used in any room of the home and are available in white, teak, oak, and rosewood.

To compliment these designs a good selection of solid teak frame sofas and sectionals by Burnholm, Komfort, Nordick Andels Eksport are now in stock. Stunning tile-topped tables will complete the picture.

Other good buys these days at Viking Furniture include several desks in teak, oak, walnut, and rosewood many with file storage in the top of the desk and a fine assortment of dining tables and chairs.

LANDAU Presents LIBERTY of LONDON The World's Finest Cotton

For years LANDAU of Princeton has offered the world's largest selection of Icelandic Woolens: the finest, lightest, warmest wool in the world. In keeping with this LANDAU tradition, we proudly introduce our collection of Liberty of London cotton sportswear, the finest, silkiest, coolest cotton in the world.

Those of you who know the name Liberty of London, rejoice. This is the largest Liberty collection ever presented in the United States. For those unfamiliar with Liberty, the following should explain our enthusiasm.

Liberty of London—Since 1875

In the mid 1800's, Arthur Liberty set forth to expand his yard-goods business and establish his company as a producer of unique printed fabrics. With the world as his marketplace, he selected the finest wool from Cashmere, Chinese silks, fine Indian gauze and choice cotton from the tropics.

Combining a keen eye for the unusual with a strong sense of design, Arthur Liberty created an exclusive line of printed fabrics. By 1875, Liberty had become a standard of fabric excellence, unmatched in all of Europe.

Liberty of London—Rich, Clear Cotton Prints

In the 1980's, Liberty purchases the finest cotton from Egypt and ships it to Switzerland where it is spun and then woven into cloth. The initial steps of this weaving process shrink the fabric from a 42" width, to a 36" width. This technique produces a very lightly woven, silk-like fabric termed cotton lawn. Then, using the finest dyes available, and old-world engraved copper rollers, the famous Liberty designs are printed. These exclusive prints are the richest, sharpest fabric designs in all the world and remain vivid through years of laundering and countless seasons of wear. After you touch this fine cotton cloth it becomes clear why Liberty has earned their world wide reputation.

From Liberty of London to LANDAU of Princeton

To assemble this expanded LANDAU-Liberty collection, we have worked closely with Pat Hannum of East Norwalk, Ct. Pat and her tailors are dedicated to the same quality standards that both LANDAU and Liberty cherish. Working with Liberty's cotton lawn fabric, Hannum Designs produce handmade garments with unique quality workmanship. Pat's creative designs and attention to detail are exemplified by features such as covered plaquets, finished bottoms, full hems, and pockets on virtually every item. LANDAU's is very proud to offer this unique collection—beautiful Liberty prints, tailored into classically styled skirts, blouses, dresses and more.

Purchase a LANDAU-Liberty. We are confident you will become a lifetime Liberty collector. As with all LANDAU products, your satisfaction is guaranteed. If you are ever dissatisfied, simply return your purchase for a full refund, with no questions asked.

25TH REUNION: Fred Abelson of Allen's Children shop was catering to adults as well as their children last week. The shop was crowded with members of the class of 1957 celebrating their 25th reunion in costumes which they purchased from the shop. Mr. Abelson is seen here in front of the window display last weekend which featured all of the 1957 class's former reunion costumes.

Jim O'Neill to Step Down as PHS Baseball Coach for At Least One Year

"I just love coaching. I love baseball. I'd have to say some of the most positive experiences and relationships I've had with kids would have to be my eight years of coaching baseball."

Princeton High baseball coach Jim O'Neill, nonetheless, is going to give up coaching the Little Tigers—at least for a year—and he knows it isn't going to be easy. "I'm sure I'll have severe withdrawal pains next spring. I sure wouldn't give it up if only baseball were involved but I have to consider other things."

To appreciate what O'Neill has done for the sport, one has to recall that after a few glory years under Harry Zoll in the early 1960s, PHS struggled through 17 years without a winning season.

When he was named coach, O'Neill said at the time that there wasn't anything he would rather do than coach baseball. It was something he had always wanted to do. He was brimming with enthusiasm.

In his first three years, PHS won a total of nine games. Shaken, O'Neill gave himself one more year and in his fourth year, he started to turn the program around. No longer—finally—was PHS an easy win on the schedule.

Since the team started playing at the Valley Road School field five years ago, it has played over .500. "I gave them respectability," said O'Neill.

We Worked Hard. "We really struggled for those wins. We worked hard in practice. We had kids playing who probably wouldn't have made it in other schools. "It's amazing the way sport brings people together," continued O'Neill. "There's something different when you share the ups and downs of victory and defeat. There's a common bond."

Players from his first team—Don Seitz, Ed Volz, John Madden—now 25 years old, still come back to see him and talk to him, O'Neill reported. And he continues to follow the careers of former players.

From last year's team, pitcher Andy Kulinsky has a 2-1 record with the Rutgers University freshman team. Two other members of the 1981 PHS mound staff, Judd Petrone and Peter Krasnoff are playing in Lynchburg, Va. and Ohio Wesleyan. Slugging shortstop Brent Robinson, who had his eye on a major league career, is playing his college ball in Florida.

No one likes to win more than O'Neill, and he was disappointed when his team failed to win half its games this spring. "We were not an overpowering team, but I thought we would play .500," he said.

More than winning.

however, he stressed the sheer joy of participating and the deeper things baseball had to offer. "Baseball has positive meanings," he said. "They learn how to deal with other people, how to deal with themselves, how to deal with adversity and not give up. The kids learn a lot about life."

"I stress that. We weren't always successful but overall we had a real good percentage."

O'Neill asked for and received a year's leave of absence because he believes, he said, it is good for people to do different things. At the moment he has three career changes pending, any one of which he said, will be "significantly different" from what he is doing now.

At this point in his life, it is something he feels he has to do, he said. "And if I find I miss teaching and coaching too much, I can always come back."

TIGER CREW SECOND
In IRA Championships, Princeton's varsity heavyweight crew put on a strong closing sprint, but fell two seconds short of catching Cornell in the Intercollegiate Rowing Association Championships last Saturday.

Rowing on rain and wind-swept Lake Onondaga near Syracuse, the Big Red finished in a time of 5:57.3 over the 200-meter course, capturing the event for the second consecutive year.

Not expected to be a serious contender, because it had won only one race all year, Cornell barely made the finals. Failing to qualify on Thursday, it gained its berth in a seven seconds behind Calfor-repechage heat Friday, during which losing crews are given one more chance.

In Saturday's finals, it took the lead at the start, and held it for the first 250 meters, before yielding to favored Navy. The Big Red regained the lead at the 500-meter mark, and held off a determined challenge by the Tigers.

Navy. The Big Red regained the lead at the 500-meter mark, and held off a determined challenge by the Tigers.

Syracuse nipped Navy by half a second to capture third, with Brown and Boston University following. Princeton did not fare as well in other races. The freshman heavyweights finished fourth, more than a second behind California, which posted a time of 6:08.3. Navy and Syracuse were second and third respectively.

In the junior varsity race, the Tigers were a distant fifth, behind Navy, and sixth in the varsity pairs without coxswain.

BATTLE OF UNBEATENS
Mike's Outlasts Andy's, 12-10. In the closest game thus far in the Princeton Women's Adult Slow Pitch Softball League's season, Mike's Tavern last week took over sole possession of first place with a come-from-behind, extra-inning 12-10 win over Andy's Tavern.

Kathy Shillaber scored a run for Mike's in the top of the first inning, but Andy's came back in its half with two runs, both driven in by Karla Pullen. Mike's went ahead, 4-2, in the top of the second, scoring three runs on hits by Clare Baxter, Missy McCloskey, and Karen Parker.

Andy's then shut out its opponent in the third and fourth innings while scoring seven runs to go ahead, 9-4, at the end of the fourth. Donna Woodruff's single, triple, two runs, and four RBI's led Andy's during this time, and Lisa Schmidt (3-for-4), Beth Muzyka (3-for-3), and pitcher Mary Fox (2-for-4) also contributed key hits.

Mike's scored the five runs that it needed to tie over the next innings. During this rally, Debbie Breithaupt, Grace Durland, Dee Pearce, McCloskey, Parker and winning pitcher Baxter all hit well for Mike's.

Despite 3 hits in the top of the seventh, the last regulation inning, Mike's could not push across the go-ahead run, as Andy's defense kept cutting down the lead runner. Andy's also failed to score in the bottom of the inning, although it had a runner in scoring position.

In the eighth, Mike's got four straight hits from Barbara Miller, pinch-hitter Debbie Ficarro, Breithaupt, and Durland to score two runs. Sallie Toscano drove in Here's an interesting baseball question...

There were 2 big league managers in 1950 who — unlike other managers — were NOT allowed to go out on the field to change pitchers or argue with the umpires... Why was that? ... They were the manager of the Dodgers, Burt Shotton, and the manager of the A's, Connie Mack — and the reason they couldn't go on the field is that they always managed in street clothes, and not uniforms... Baseball rules prohibit anyone from going on the field during a game unless they're in uniform... Shotton and Mack were the last big league managers to manage in street clothes.

Amazingly, the California Angels started the 1982 baseball season with ELEVEN former All-Star players on their team — Don Baylor, Bob Boone, Rick Burleson, Rod Carew, Brian Downing, Ken Forsch, Bobby Grich, Reggie Jackson, Fred Lynn, Fred Patek and Bill Travers.

Here's one hard to believe, but it's true... The Chicago Cubs have now played 73 CONSECUTIVE YEARS without winning a World Series... Last time the Cubs won the World Series was 1908.

I bet you didn't know... that Mortgage insurance is the least expensive of all life insurance. Is your mortgage insured?

In a second game, Conte's Bar crushed Koffee Kup, 21-6, as the 15-run rule was invoked at the end of 6 innings.

Visiting Kup jumped to an early 6-1 lead, at the end of the first, behind the hitting of Jayme Edwards (2-for-3), Judi Grisham (3-for-3), and Penny Rice. After a scoreless second inning, Conte's bats exploded for 20 runs over the next four. The big hitters for the victors were Harriet Staub (4-for-5), including a home run, 7 RBI's, Peggy Wood (2-for-3, 2 RBI's), Laine Ivan (2-for-5), and Jill Bonin and Cynthia Lucullo, who combined for 3 hits and 3 runs. Cathy Burrough was the winning pitcher, allowing just six hits.

The second of three rounds begins this week, as Andy's plays Koffee Kup and Conte's Bar takes on Princeton Indoor Tennis Center.

DO IT MY WAY

Fletcher State Hurdle Champ, Princeton High junior Stephan Fletcher is the state 110-meter high hurdle champion and he credits his father with helping to achieve that goal.

At Princeton University last week, Fletcher used a good start to nose out Bill Newmuis of Penns Grove in the NJSIAA Meet of Champions. Both were timed in 14.2. Newmuis had defeated Fletcher the previous week at Rutgers Stadium in the NJSIAA Group 2 championships.

"I had a better start than I did last Saturday," commented Fletcher. The victory, he said, was for his father.

Lamont Fletcher Sr., who coaches the PHS girls track team and who was an outstanding hurdler at PHS during his high school career, had been trying the past few years to get Stephan to adjust his start.

"I was starting with my lead leg, and ever since I was a freshman," Stephan recalled, "my father's been telling me I'm supposed to start with my trail leg."

Before the race, Fletcher worked on getting his start down and he switched. "It felt awkward the first time I tried it, but after that it felt good," he said.

The only other Princeton area entrant to emerge a state champion was Rich Henrie of Steinert who won the discus with a toss of 175-4. He is the first Spartan state champion.

PRINCETON POST 76 BOWS

In American Legion Opener. His team played a little tentative in an opening 6-1 loss to Broad Street Park last week, but Pete Millington, coach of the Princeton Post 76 American Legion team said that he feels his club "ought to be as good as last year's. I really believe we've got a good ball club," he added.

Princeton surprised everyone last year by getting off to a fast start only to fade a little toward the end of the 30-game season. Millington welcomes quite a few back from that team, which is why he is optimistic about this season.

Broad Street Park's Greg Meszaros was in control against Princeton, scattering eight hits--two by centerfielder Kevin Phox--fanning eight and walking two. Losing pitcher John Majarwitz was touched for nine hits but "came along strong," as the game progressed, said Millington. In the middle of the game, Phox, with the bases loaded with BSP runners, "probably saved us three runs," said Millington, when he made an outstanding catch, running to deep left center to pull down a long fly.

In upcoming games, Princeton will be at Bordentown on Friday and play Hamilton Saturday at 4 at Mercer County Park. It will play its home opener at Princeton University's Clarke Field Sunday against the Browns. Starting time is 1.

LIKE TO COMPETE?

Get in the Swm. The Princeton Recreation Department Swimming and Diving Program offers opportunities for all levels of swimmer and diver.

The workout program will operate Monday - Saturday from 8 to 10 a.m. and 7-8:30 some evenings. Jeff Lowe, coach at Peddie School, will head the program, which will begin June 21.

The Recreation Department will again be sponsoring a swim team in the Princeton Area Swimming and Diving Association League. Team swimmers must be Princeton residents or season ticket holders and are subject to the same fees as other competitive swimmers. The season begins June 21 and ends July 31.

The diving program will run concurrently with the swim program. Interested divers will be placed in instructional classes and will be eligible to compete in PASDA Meets if they are residents or season ticket holders.

Princeton University diver, Celia Green, will be coaching the diving team this year. Those interested in diving with the team should come to Community Pool on Saturday between 9:30 and 11 a.m. to be registered and evaluated for placement.

ALERTNESS REWARDED: The Optimist Club of Hopewell Valley honored Pennington resident Patricia O'Hara during the Club's observance of Respect The Law Week, proclaimed by Gov. Thomas Kean. Through Mrs. O'Hara's efforts, the F.B.I. apprehended three men who robbed the Pennington branch of the New Jersey National Bank on October 27, 1980.
